

To stream the films and find teaching resources, visit createdequal.neh.gov.

Created Equal: America's Civil Rights Struggle brings five outstanding films on the long civil rights movement to educators across the United States. As part of the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH)'s Bridging Cultures initiative, the Created Equal website helps educators screen the history of civil rights in America in their classrooms through streaming video clips, thought provoking questions, historical essays, primary sources, and lesson plans. Five acclaimed films (The Abolitionists, Slavery By Another Name, Freedom Riders, The Loving Story and Freedom Summer), spanning the period from the 1830s to the 1960s, are the centerpiece of this website. Each of these films was supported by NEH, and each tells remarkable stories of individuals who challenged the social and legal status quo, from slavery to segregation.

To stream the films and find teaching resources, visit createdequal.neh.gov.

Created Equal: America's Civil Rights Struggle brings five outstanding films on the long civil rights movement to educators across the United States. As part of the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH)'s Bridging Cultures initiative, the Created Equal website helps educators screen the history of civil rights in America in their classrooms through streaming video clips, thought provoking questions, historical essays, primary sources, and lesson plans. Five acclaimed films (The Abolitionists, Slavery By Another Name, Freedom Riders, The Loving Story and Freedom Summer), spanning the period from the 1830s to the 1960s, are the centerpiece of this website. Each of these films was supported by NEH, and each tells remarkable stories of individuals who challenged the social and legal status quo, from slavery to segregation.

For Civil Rights lesson plans, go to
EDSITEment.neh.gov

NEH's EDSITEment is a nationally recognized destination for teachers seeking rich social studies and interdisciplinary resources on the Internet. The website contains over 500 scholar- and teacher-developed lesson plans based on primary sources for the K-12 classroom. The lessons link to more than 400 peer-reviewed websites selected for their high quality humanities content and interactive design. Advanced Placement U.S. History and Literature teachers have long used EDSITEment lessons in their courses and for student review. More recently, new resources have been developed that apply Common Core standards to significant texts in U.S. History, and American and World literatures.

For Civil Rights lesson plans, go to
EDSITEment.neh.gov

NEH's EDSITEment is a nationally recognized destination for teachers seeking rich social studies and interdisciplinary resources on the Internet. The website contains over 500 scholar- and teacher-developed lesson plans based on primary sources for the K-12 classroom. The lessons link to more than 400 peer-reviewed websites selected for their high quality humanities content and interactive design. Advanced Placement U.S. History and Literature teachers have long used EDSITEment lessons in their courses and for student review. More recently, new resources have been developed that apply Common Core standards to significant texts in U.S. History, and American and World literatures.